

New VA Onboarding — Amazon PPC Basics

What's expected of you in your first weeks managing an Amazon PPC account.

Welcome

This handout is what to read on day one as a new Amazon PPC virtual assistant. It won't make you an expert by itself — pair it with the courses and simulators in Project Amazon PH Academy — but it will tell you what's expected of you and where to start.

What the Role Actually Involves

- Monitoring campaign performance and flagging problems before the client has to ask.
- Pulling and acting on the Search Term Report on a regular cadence (usually weekly).
- Adjusting bids, budgets, and negative keywords within the boundaries the client sets.
- Reporting results clearly, in the client's language, not just PPC jargon.
- Escalating anything outside your authority — new campaign strategy, big budget changes, policy violations — rather than guessing.

Your First Week

- 1 Get access to Amazon Seller Central / Ads Console for the account(s) you'll manage, and confirm you can see Campaign Manager and the Search Term Report.
- 2 Ask for the client's target ACOS or TACOS, monthly ad budget, and top priority products.
- 3 Read the account's last 30 days of performance before changing anything.
- 4 Run the STR Winner/Bleeder Scanner and the Listing Audit Checklist from the download center on the account's current state as your baseline.
- 5 Agree on a reporting cadence and template with your supervisor (see the Client PPC Performance Report Template).
- 6 Complete the relevant course modules and simulator exercises in this platform before making live changes on a real account, if you haven't already.

Weekly Rhythm

Cadence	Task
Daily	Check for budget-capped campaigns, out-of-stock ASINs still running ads, and any policy flags
Weekly	Pull the Search Term Report; update winners/bleeders; adjust bids; send the client report
Monthly	Full listing audit pass; review campaign structure; re-confirm target ACOS/TACOS is still accurate

When to Escalate, Not Decide Alone

- Any change to the client's stated budget or target ACOS.
- Launching a new campaign type the account hasn't used before.
- Anything that looks like a policy or account-health risk.
- A metric moving sharply in either direction with no obvious cause.

Keep the PPC Metrics Cheat Sheet and Bid Adjustment Quick Reference nearby for your first month — most new-VA mistakes come from acting on too little data, not from not knowing a formula.
